DETAILED ACTION

The finality of the office action mailed on March 21, 2006 is being withdrawn in view of the new rejections made in this office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 49, 50, 52 and 55 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Devanathan et al. (US 5,645,594) in view of McKellop et al. (US 6,165,220).

Devanathan et al. disclose an acetabular cup or "implantable orthopedic prosthesis" or "laminar composite bearing" having multiple layers formed by compression molding under pressure and temperature wherein during molding the polymer (PMMA) melts and forms an inter-penetrating polymer network or "melt-fused" interface (Fig. 2 and col. 2, lines 10-65).

Devanathan et al. disclose all elements of the claimed invention except for an irradiated crosslinked polymer layer.

McKellop et al. teach irradiating the bearing surface of a UHMWPE cup using e-beam irradiation to produce gradient cross-linking on its bearing or articulating surface for wear resistance (col. 7, lines 25-67, col. 8, lines 1-29 and col. 9, lines 19-31).

Accordingly it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have irradiated the articulating surface of the Devanathan et al. bearing with e-beam irradiation, as taught by McKellop et al., to produce gradient cross-linking on its articulating surface for wear resistance.

Allowable Subject Matter

Upon further consideration, the indicated allowability of claims 49, 50, 52 and 55 is withdrawn in view of the rejections made in this office action.
